Police break up youth drug ring

Campbell police this week broke a teenage narcotics ring involving students from local schools including Campbell and Prospect High schools and several students from the Campbell Elementary School.

Questioned and booked into juvenile hall were nearly 20 students who admitted they had been habitual users of various drugs, including LSD, marijuana, Dexedrine and even one youthful user, from the elementary school, who used methedrine and hashish.

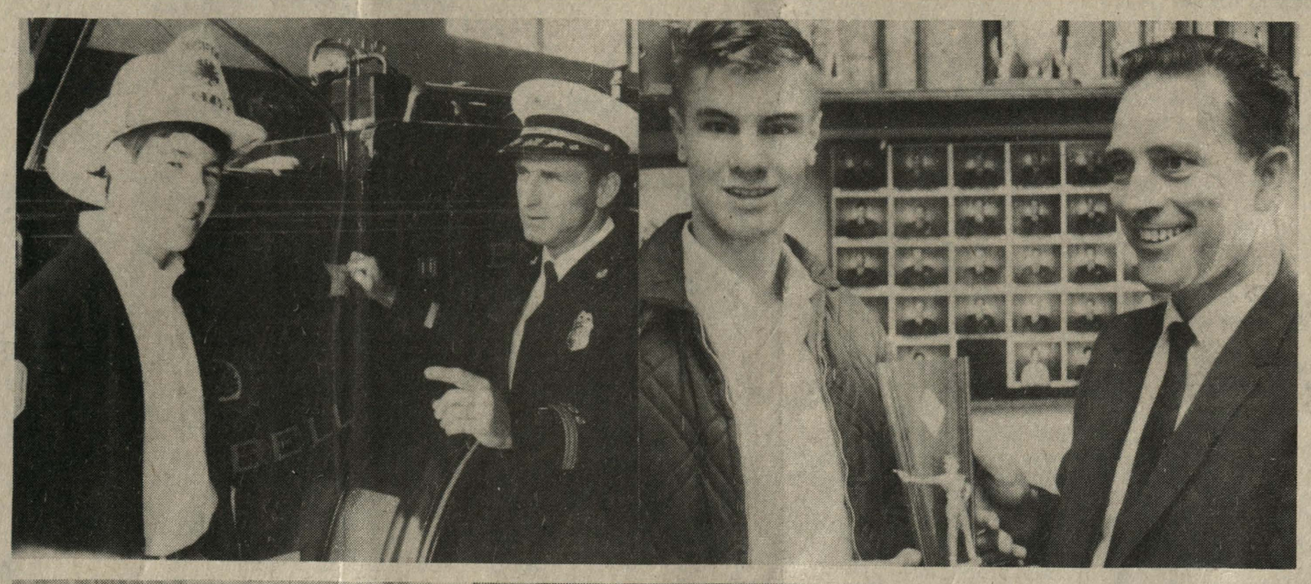
The first break in the case came when the mother of a 16-year old youth called the Campbell police into her home to help her son who readily admitted to using and selling narcotics. He had obtained a large supply of drugs on a trip to Haight Ashbury and admitted to selling 700 Dexedrine pills to other students.

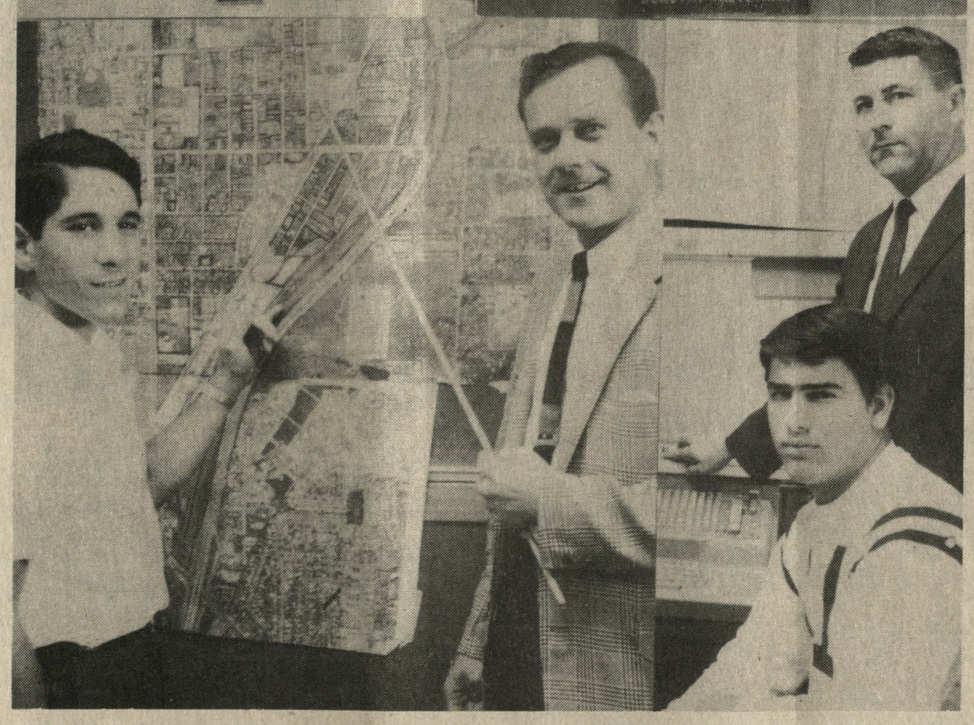
He also said that he had been using marijuana about once a week. Marijuana seeds were found in his room along with other drugs. He was booked into juvenile hall after cooperating with officers in locating the other students he had been selling narcotics to.

The first group of eight students involved others, reaching down to the Campbell Elementary School level, where one student had introduced six other juveniles to drugs. Two girls were also questioned and found to have used LSD and marijuana and one was apparently "pushing" the drugs in selling them to other students, or even in some cases giving the drugs away.

John Morgan, Campbell police chief, stated that he felt that the ringleader and pushers of the drugs had been apprehended. However, he added cautiously, it was possible that other students were involved and that parents should be aware that drugs are being used in Campbell.

Morgan also pointed out that the students involved did not come from the lower social economic group living in Campbell, but were all children from middle or upper income families from above-average single-family residential areas.





High school students "run" city hall

Students from four high schools in the Campbell area (Campbell, Del Mar, Westmont and Prospect) assumed the roles of both elected and appointed city officials, on Tuesday of this week.

The 15 youths took over the positions of city councilmen and department heads as part of "Student Government Day".

The teen-age city officials-for-a-day were guests of the Kiwanis Club at luncheon after "working with" the department heads and councilmen in the morning.

The students returned to classes in the afternoon. But last night at 7:30 (after press time) they were scheduled to appear at the regular City Council meeting where they were to make reports on their day's activities before the "old" City Council settled down to the routine matters of actual city administration.

The City Council met on Tuesday this week instead of Monday which was Veteran's Day, a school and city holiday.

Other students taking part in Student Government Day included, Randy Fujishin, Campbell; Gary Fischer, Campbell; George Akina, Campbell; Denise Batis, Prospect; and Lonna Quement, Del Mar, councilman. Randy served as mayor.

Kevin Barnes, Prospect, city attorney; Larry Gilliam, Westmont, planning director; Paul Tokunaga, Campbell, building official; and Kenneth Heckman, Del Mar, public works superintendent.

Dedication set for mini-park

Campbell's mini-park at Alice Ave. and Winchester will be dedicated on Sun. Dec. 8, according to tentative plans of Campbell Citizens for Beautification.

Current plans are for a 2 p.m. ceremony when the park will be officially "returned" to the City of Campbell.

The decision was made at the committee's meeting last week, when the effects of the business beautification contest were evaluated and plans made for a similar contest next year.

The committee, headed by Mrs. Jeanette Watson, is in the process of compiling a scrapbook comprised of pictures, clippings and reports of city-wide beautification efforts to enter in a national beautification contest.

Olympic coach to speak

Educators host business firms

One of the American coaches will describe some of the behind the scenes experiences of the recent Olympic Games in Mexico City at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting Thursday (Nov. 14) in the Campbell High cafetorium at 12:45 p.m.

Art Lambert, aquatics coach at DeAnza College in Cupertino and coach of the American water polo team in the recent Olympics, will be the featured speaker as the climax to the annual education-business day of the C of C.

Educators and business and business and professional people traditionally "get together" each year, taking turns at being hosts for the day.

This year the educators are the hosts.

Educational representatives of West Valley College, Campbell Union High School District, Campbell Union (elementary) District, St. Lucy's Catholic School and Coventry School of the Moreland District, will greet local businessmen at the Campbell High cafetorium at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

The business and professional men of the area then will go to various schools as guests of the administrators and teachers. Wherever possible the businessman will visit the school of his choice.

This year the service clubs in the community are cooperating with the C of C in the staging of the Education-Business Day, under the direction of Neal Royer, superintendent of Campbell elementary district and first vice-president of CofC, as general chairman.

Others on the committee include, Len Edholm, C of C; Ralph Weymouth, Kiwanis; Claude Walsh, Lions; Mrs. George Van Sickle, Country Woman's Club; Dick Davis, Rotary.

The pledge of allegiance at the luncheon will be led by the Marine Corps ROTC color guard from Campbell High and Ken Mantle, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will introduce the guests.

Lambert, the principal speaker at the luncheon, now 33, was a two-time All-American water polo star in San Jose State where he received his bachelor and masters degree in physical education.

ART LAMBERT
--Olympic Coach

Lambert coached the Foothill Aquatic Club of Los Altos to a National AAU Water Polo championship in 1965 and 1966 and also coached the U.S. team to a gold medal victory in the Pan-American games in Winnepeg in 1967.

Before taking over at DeAnza, Lambert was aquatic coach at Foothill College and Awalt High School where his teams won numerous polo titles.

While competing in swimming in high school, college and after college, Lambert set a number of swimming records.

Civic leader wins plaque

It was a surprised and pleased Jeanette Watson, chairman of Campbell Citizens for Beautification committee who accepted a special certificate of merit award from Norvell Gillespie, host of the "Green Thumb" television program, at KRON-TV studios in San Francisco last week.

Mrs. Watson, who met Gillespie when he was guest speaker for a beautification awards luncheon recently, had journeyed to the television studio to be interviewed on the committee's work. The award was made for "significant contribution to improving California Beauty". The program was taped on Thursday and was aired Saturday, Nov. 9.

Gillespie indicated that the campaign to upgrade local businesses was one of the largest undertaken in the state and that he hoped other cities would benefit by Campbell's example.

Thieves take office machines; leave "mark"

Two cases of grand theft were logged by Campbell police during the last week, both with the same "trademark", indicating that both burglaries were possibly carried out by the same person or group of persons.

Both B. & M. Roof, 524 Forman Dr., and Martin Plumbing, 1049 Dell Ave., lost office equipment valued at several thousand dollars.

On Nov. 6 the roofing business was entered and office equipment valued at $1,435 was taken after a 6" hole had been cut in a window in order to reach in and unlock a door. On Nov. 7 a window was pried open at the plumbing establishment and typewriters, adding machines and other equipment valued at $2,530 was removed.

Another grand theft in Campbell was recorded when someone apparently used a fork lift truck to abscond with the Royal Crown cola machine stationed outside the Hancock service station at 790 E. Campbell Ave.

Kitchen appliances valued at $432 were taken from a house under construction by Leep Development Co. at 1697 Hyde Dr.

A total of .36 of an inch of rain fell Monday night during the storm that drenched the Campbell area. This brought the total rainfall for the season to 1.91 inches. Normal for Nov. 13 is 1.75 inches. On this date last year a total of .14 inches had been recorded at the Campbell Water Company. Clearing and colder weather was indicated by the barometer.

Campbell post office to open earlier starting next Monday

To accommodate post office box patrons who require some type of window clerk service, the window service counter at the Campbell post office will open at 8:45 a.m. starting next Monday, Nov. 18 (Monday through Friday). Closing time will be 5:55 p.m.

Saturday window hours will be from 9 a.m. through noon.

Postmaster Jim Hurley, in explaining the change, said a survey of post office box patrons indicated that representatives of most business firms come to the post office between 8:45 and 9 a.m. for their mail pickup.

Hurley added that frequently they have articles of mail that require some type of window clerk service. They must now wait until after 9 a.m. for the windows to open which often is inconvenient for the patrons.

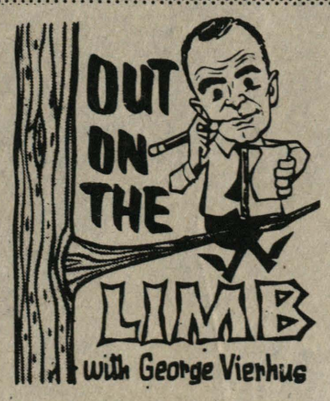
Hurley said that the new hours will continue through the holiday season and added that as usual the windows will be open for the weekday hours (8:45 to 5:45) on the three Saturdays preceding Christmas (Dec. 7 - 14 - 21).

There will be no window service on Christmas Day and only special delivery mail and parcels containing perishables will be delivered.

The postmaster also reminded the public that domestic Christmas cards, although they do not contain writing and are unsealed, still cost six cents each, the same rate as a sealed one-ounce card. He said this is a recent change of which many are unaware.

He cautioned also that ZIP code numbers must appear on all domestic and military parcels. These numbers can be obtained by calling any post office or by checking the ZIP code directories in the lobby. The phone numbers of the Campbell office are 378-2153 and 378-2158.

Hurley also made his annual plea to shop and mail early and added that the new Christmas stamp is now available.



UNANIMOUS APPROVAL has been given by the Planning Commission for the $10 million proposal for an office-tower and shopping center at Bascom and Campbell avenues on the former 34-acre Brynteson Ranch.

This unanimity on the part of the Planning Commission was expected, for the plans for the project that were submitted by Fred Sahadi are the most ambitious to have ever hit this city.

It is sort of staggering even to envision the additional property tax that the development will mean to the city. But the sales tax that is anticipated that will be generated by the center is even more impressive.

The unanimous vote of the Planning Commission was in sharp contrast to the situation last spring when Sahadi suggested that the civic center be located in the first five floors of the tower involving a rather complicated bit of financing.

THIS INVOLVEMENT BY the city in the development, plus the fact that it would mean moving the civic center from the downtown area blew up a storm of opposition.

Although many of us felt that it would be a progressive step for this community to move the civic center into the tower, there were many who obviously thought differently.

You might say there were two sides to the issue and the townspeople seemed pretty evenly divided on the matter.

Most of the opponents to the civic-center-tower, however, last spring indicated that they thought the tower-center project would be a great thing for the city...except the civic center should NOT be in the tower.

When Sahadi withdrew his offer to the city, quite a few people expressed the hope that he would eventually build the tower and the center anyway as a private venture.

And that is what is now in the hopper.

For example, two of the planning commissioners, Kel Young and Merrill Grim, who opposed the civic-center-tower last spring, voted last week for approval of the site development plans which call for an 18-story tower office building adjacent to the Spanish-styled shopping center.

Another strong advocate for the new development is Don Hebard, also a vigorous opponent to the civic-center tower concept of last spring.

Two councilmen, Ed Rogers and Ralph Doetsch voiced strong opposition last spring to the involvement of the city in the tower project.

But as sincere civic-minded individuals, their desire is to make their city a better place in which to live and work. So they both indicated last spring at various times that they would support such a project, as long as the city was not involved.

We doubt that there will be any opposition to the Sahadi project because the city will benefit so materially from it. And our city can put those benefits to good use.

CAMPBELL AVE. IN THE downtown area, we understand, will soon be back to normal but sporting a brand new top.

Most of us will probably agree that the newly-completed smoothway has been worth the inconvenience that we have suffered the past few months which is relatively a short period of time.

For more than a decade Campbell Ave. has been like a washboard.

Admittedly the construction activities on the street, which began last April with the storm drain installation, has taxed the patience of those who have or do business on the thoroughfare.

One must remember that, in addition, to being busy above the surface that street is also busy below ground. Telephone lines, gas mains, water pipes, storm drains, sewage

Joseph V. Gomes Park

We concede that there is considerable merit to the long-established custom or policy of both the Campbell elementary and high school districts in naming a new school after the street on which the school is located.

Such a system obviously assists in locating of the school. But of even of higher value is that the system takes the school board off the spot.

By following the policy of naming schools after streets and not people, school board members have avoided to a great extent getting involved in campaigns or crusades to name a school after a person, living or dead.

When such name campaigns are underway, they can easily become quite sticky and emotional.

So by sticking to streets, the school trustees have made the naming of a school an impersonal thing.

While we concede that the policy has kept the school boards free from personality involvements, we have never wholeheartedly agreed with it.

It is too impersonal to suit us.

Indications are that our school districts have leveled off as far as new schools are concerned, so whether the policy is a good one or bad is somewhat immaterial at this stage of the game.

Unless, of course, a movement gets underway to change the name of one of the present schools. But that's a different story.

The City of Campbell seems to be following this street-name idea for its parks without any firm policy being established.

At least as far as we know there has been NO policy adopted which specifies that a city park must be named after a street.

Yet such a policy seems to exist.

We feel the citizens of Campbell would prefer something a little more meaningful than mere street names for parks.

Surely we could do better than "Rincon Park" for the seven-acre parcel on which the Campbell-Moreland Pony League is building a modern ball field.

And while the "Virginia Ave. Park" (to a large extent a Rotary project) certainly locates that tiny tots playground, it does not do much else.

We suppose one could make a point that the city park on the creek at Campbell and Gilman avenues is properly named, Campbell Park.

The small park, developed by the Campbell JayCees at the railroad tracks around the stately walnuts, this city's only real landmark, has no official name, as far as we know.

But, now, of course, there is the new mini-park at Alice Ave. and Winchester Blvd.

Surely we are not going to continue to call it "Mini-Park".

And we think we can do better than "Alice Ave. Park".

We suggest that it be named after an individual who was a member of this city's first city council in 1952, and, in addition, served on the high school board until his death a few years ago.

Not only did this outstanding civic leader serve his community faithfully and well but apparently his dedication to his community has rubbed off on his offspring.

We suggest that the city-owned park at Alice Ave. and Winchester Blvd. be officially named "Joseph V. Gomes Park".

We deliberately have refrained from contacting the Gomes family on this matter. They had no prior knowledge that this suggestion was to be made in this editorial.

We think that it is especially fitting, however, that Mrs. Courtland (Jeanette) Watson, a daughter of the late Joe Gomes, spearheaded the drive that resulted in the mini-park becoming a reality.

We are convinced that our community needs to become a little more personal and human in its appreciation. In this day of computers and numbers, individuals themselves are often overlooked.

To keep pace with the times, we suppose even naming the parks after streets is out of line. Maybe they should be given numbers.

We sincerely hope that the City Council will see the merit in the suggestion we respectfully offer.

In our opinion the "Joseph V. Gomes Park" would be an excellent tribute to an outstanding citizen of Campbell and his family.

lines all are underground.

Since April those responsible for the underground activities have been involved in a big way.

The street has been busy, even without any traffic moving on it.

WE OVERHEARD CARL Field, a long-time resident of Campbell and one of the few charter members of the Kiwanis Club around, emphasize how "busy" Campbell Ave. has been to City Manager Bob Stephens, also a Kiwanian.

The Kiwanis Club has met for years and years in the Country Woman's Club house right on Campbell Ave. at First St.

Carl maintains that since spring the timing of the jack-hammer breaking into the street pavement by the clubhouse has been perfect.

Carl alleges the jack-hammer has started up every Tuesday just as the speaker at the Kiwanis Club is about to begin his spiel, which is a trifle disconcerting.

Carl claimed (undoubtedly exaggerating for effect) that only one Tuesday could he recall during that long drawn-out construction period that the jack-hammer was stilled during a Kiwanis meeting.

That was the meeting, Carl swears, that Kiwanian Bob Stephens was program chairman for the day.

SPEAKING OF UNDERground...in the mail recently we received a copy of Vol 1, number 1 of "The Sensor", three-pages of mimeographed items pertaining to West Valley College.

A sub-head on the main story (?), read "Underground WVC".

The "underground" mentioned in the mimeographed sheet, we gathered, had nothing to do with the storm drains or sewer lines on Campbell Ave. that we have been talking about.

We are happy to report that we did not find any of the much-used and abused four-letter words that have become so popular among the campus demonstrators.

The main complaint in "Sensor" seemed to involve the change of faculty advisors that had taken place for the "Norseman", the regular college paper. Dr. Lewis Thomas is no longer the advisor.

In another column the question was raised why it was that the Christian Science Monitor was the only newspaper sold on the college campus.

ANOTHER BIT OF INteresting mail was a form letter we received from "Associated Negro Press", based in New York City.

In a memo addressed to the editor, it was suggested that the Associated Negro Press would very much like to offer weekly feature coverage to The Campbell Press of the James Earl Ray trial in Memphis, Tenn.

If The Campbell Press had been a little more flush, we just might have accepted the offer for the coverage of the Ray trial.

It was reasonable enough.

THIS HAS NOTHING TO do with anything in particular. But we did get a bang out of Frank Kukuk the other day when he was canceling out a luncheon date that Homer Hyde had made previously.

Homer had been called out of town because of a death in the family.

Frank explained that Homer and Katherine had already left by plane and that he had been asked to make various cancellations by phone.

Except Frank sort of condensed the whole bit.

Homer was on a "phone flight", he told us, and thus couldn't make our luncheon date.

But on instant replay we got the message.

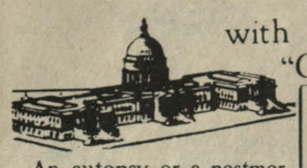
ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser



An autopsy or a postmortem can't help the deceased but it often provides information of value for the future. So. in light of the recent abortive effort by the GOP to elect a Republican Congress to support President-elect Nixon, an honest post-mortem by Republicans now seems to be in order. Like all such operations the post-mortem won't be pleasant, but it is nevertheless necessary.

Some theorists believe the President's decision to halt the bombing in Vietnam cost the GOP a working majority in the House of Representatives. Personally, I believe the pluses and the minuses balanced out and the bombing halt had little or no effect on the congressional races.

Republicans obviously did not capitalize on the widespread public dissatisfaction with the Johnson Administration of which Vice President Humphrey was an integral part. Somehow they failed to relate this dissatisfaction to the Democratic Congresses of the past twelve years. So in this sense the GOP public relations effort failed because it did not identify democratic legislative control of the policy making branch of government with the Administration policies which have irritated the general public.

But probably the most serious oversight on the part of Republican strategists was their failure to remember one of the oldest political axioms: If a minority party is to win, the top of its ticket must enjoy almost universal acceptance. It is impossible to convince voters of a majority party to cross the partisan line and vote Republican when a sizeable segment of our population holds reservations about the Republican standard-bearer.

I have always felt that Richard Nixon, through experience, background, and native ability, was the most qualified candidate Republicans could offer. But the hard truth is that a very large part of our population holds serious reservations regarding him. And the only reason the Democratic Party failed to capture the White House in the November 5 election was because the resentment against the Johnson Administration was many times greater than the reservations held against Nixon. But in congressional races the national feeling for Mr. Nixon was not great enough to carry a Republican Congress with him.

Though I am personally delighted with the election of Dick Nixon, political realism forces me to frankly state my opinion that other Republicans may have won with a more substantial margin to provide the impetus and follow through which might have elected a Republican majority to Congress. In the same vein of thought I am also confident that if Senator Kuchel had been nominated in the June primary we would have had another GOP Senator and probably an additional two or three Republican Congressmen from California.

So, in all frankness and perhaps with a degree of bluntness, I believe the last election should show Republicans that if they crave success in the future, they must remember the importance of the "top of the ticket". If the entire team fielded by a minority party is to win, the top of the ticket must have more than a "cliff hanger" victory. It must be decisive!

But on display in the "newest concept of living", a mobile home, are pictures of seven generations of Mrs. Taylor's family, from her great-great grandmother on down, to her grandchildren. Mrs. Taylor stated that the earlier pictures were not tintypes, but were pictures taken from the originals.

SCHOLARSHIP BREAKFAST--William C. "Bill" Henley, honorary chairman for the Jack Fischer Scholarship Breakfast, displays his culinary art to Mrs. Lynn Meyer, co-chairman, who wants to be sure that everyone knows the time and place (Nov. 24, San Tomas Market) for the event which will raise funds for local scholarships, given in honor of the late Jack Fischer, principal of San Tomas school.

Jack Fischer scholarship fund pancake breakfast set for Nov. 24

The San Tomas Market parking lot, 855 San Tomas Aquino Rd., will be converted to a giant outdoor "Pancake House", Sun. Nov. 24, when the Jack Fischer Scholarship Committee and Aunt Jemima stage a pancake breakfast with all proceeds going to the Jack Fischer Scholarship Fund.

Shortly after the passing of Jack Fischer (two years ago) the Memorial Scholarship was set up by the parents and friends of the San Tomas area. (Fischer served as principal of San Tomas School for thirteen years and was recognized by educators and laymen as one of those rare human beings that come around "once in a lifetime".)

With the inception of the scholarship, a student from Westmont High school or Campbell High School (on a rotating basis) has been awarded $100 Scholarship to West Valley College. The fund has barely survived, but thanks mainly to the efforts of the San Tomas School PTA, the commitment has been kept.

The breakfast co-chairmen, Mrs. Lynn Meyer and Mrs. Carol Lemmerman, recently named William C. Henley as "honorary" chairman for the event. Henley is retired superintendant of the Campbell Union Elementary School District, under whom Fischer served for a number of years.

"Jack and I worked together, side by side, and although we didn't always agree with each other, we never lost our respect for one another. I thought the world of Jack Fischer, as did anyone who knew him," said Henley in accepting the post.

The co-chairmen also announced that the menu will consist of orange juice, hot cakes, sausage, coffee or milk. Breakfast will be served from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. Tickets will sell for $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 and under (all you can eat).

Anyone wishing additional information or tickets are urged to call either of the co-chairmen at 378-0572, or Mrs. Beverly Napier, ticket chairman, 379-2697.

CRANBERRY RELISH

With the holiday season rapidly approaching new homemakers and old alike are always looking for new ways to dress up their festive meals.

Cranberries are always a popular item to compliment the turkey or ham and a delicious way to serve them is in a cranberry relish, combining raw cranberries, apples, oranges and lemons to make a colorful addition to the family meal.

Grind 1 lb. of washed whole fresh cranberries into large bowl (if you don't have a blender, before grinding, it is best to place several layers of newspaper on the floor and a pot on the floor to catch the drippings.)

Next core and grind four red apples, skin and all.

Add two oranges, whole, with the skin and one whole medium size lemon with skin. Add the juice drippings to mixture, add one cup Karo white syrup and one cup granulated sugar and mix well. Let stand at least overnight before serving to blend the flavors. Ymmmmm-good.

Cancer Society awareness week

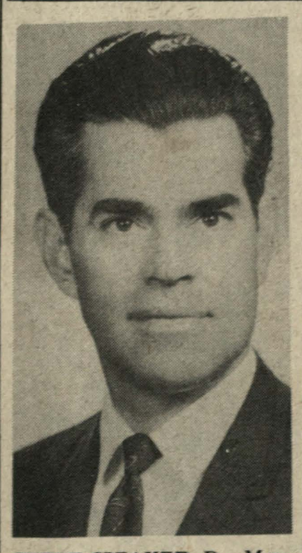
A concentrated, week-long campaign to make women aware of a simple test that can save lives from cancer will be launched by the American Cancer Society on Sunday, Nov. 17, announces David Doyle, M.D., chairman of the Santa Clara County Branch Education Committee.

"Cancer Education Week will have as its goal the saving of lives now needlessly lost to uterine cancer," Dr. Doyle stated.

"By means of a simple, painless procedure called the 'Pap' test, uterine cancer can be discovered before there are any symptoms," Dr. Doyle explained. "At such an early stage, the cancer is almost 100 percent curable."

In spite of this, it is estimated that approximately 14,000 women will die of uterine cancer in the United States this year.

"These are lives we can save through education," Dr. Doyle declared. "Actually, we need to do more than just make women aware of the 'Pap' test. We have to try to motivate them to see their physicians and have the test done on an annual basis." he added.



GUEST SPEAKER--Dr. Maynard Eyestone, missionary to the Philippines, will be guest speaker this Sunday evening at the Saratoga Ave. Baptist Church. In the service which begins at 7 p.m., the newly organized "Men Singers", 13 men from the local congregation will sing under the direction of Bud Burt.

Dr. Eyestone will also be speaking to the high school group of the church at 6 p.m. and the college youth at 8:15 p.m. on social problems of Christian youth in other lands.

Prospect Pulse

By Pat Hebard

A great defense was played by the Panthers last Friday afternoon against Blackford. Prospect held Blackford from scoring or getting near their goal the first half of the game. By the last half the Panthers couldn't hold them any longer. It was a very exciting game. Prospect spirit was outstanding.

A rally held that afternoon was also a fine example of Prospect pride. As the competition between the classes grows each class comes up with something to outdo the others. Last week was senior week in which the seniors put on the rally. An unexpected spurt of spirit from the sophomore class stunned the seniors.

The Pot-Luck dinner sponsored by the Spirit Commission was a great success. The team ate a hardy meal and enjoyed some entertainment from a vocal group from Campbell. Coach Earl Adams was very grateful to the girls for their show of support of the team. He said that they had started a great tradition and that he had never seen anything like it in any of the schools he coached before.

The cafeteria was amply decorated with "BEAT BLACKFORD" posters and "WE LOVE OUR TEAM" signs.

The end of the quarter brought with it some surprises. Teachers gave students their grades and some were happy and some not so happy. All in all the first quarter of Prospect High is over and it has been quite successful.

Girl's Sports is now switching sports at the end of the quarter. The girls will be working out on hockey fields or on the basketball courts. Members are hoping for a more successful season than the previous swimming and tennis season.

This week the Panthers meet the Campbell Buccaneers at Campbell. The Prospect team is hoping to hold Campbell to a low score. The Prospect pride is expected to overshadow the quiet Buccaneers. For former Campbell students who now attend Prospect, this game should be very exciting as they show how much pride they have in their new school.

November 16 is the date in which Prospect speech and debators meet at Fremont High to compete with other students throughout the forensic league. Prospect has more than seventy entries. Miss Cunningham is the advisor.

Students who belong to the honor society are preparing to take their tuberculin test this week. Students who pass will be allowed to work in the snack bar. They must work in the snack bar to be able to go on the annual San Francisco trip.

Campbell Corners

By Barbara Handel

Campbell won their game against Westmont last Friday with the final score of 47-0. The Bucs made 7 touchdowns. The spirit was good and helped promote the excitement of the game.

The Frosh-Soph team also brought home a victory. Good defensive tackles were made by Jerry Fournier and Ken Thatcher.

This week, we play our rival school, Prospect. On Thursday, the Frosh-Soph play at 3 on Westmont's field. The Varsity play Friday at 3 on Campbell's field. The game should be exciting and the spirit turnout should be at its best. Prospect is said to be bringing a car caravan with the class having the most people and cars coming, getting the most points for that day towards the spirit trophy.

Last weeks Players of the Week were quarterback Gary Tomasso and linemen Andy Morris and Dain Hines.

Yesterday our first assembly of the school year took place during second period. The purpose of the assembly was to give the students a preview of the Senior play, "The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch", to be presented this Thursday and Friday at 8. The cost of admission is $1 for adults and 75 cents for children under twelve. The public is encouraged to come.

To help get the theme of the old west, today Seniors wore western jeans, boots, hats, etc.

This week nominations for homecoming queen are out. Our homecoming game is held on Thanksgiving Day against Los Gatos at Campbell. Tickets for the game are now on sale in room 35. Get your ticket now to avoid the long line at the gate.

Last Tuesday, four Campbell High students took part in the City Administration Day in Campbell. Randy Fujishin, student body president, served as mayor. Gary Fischer, student body vice-president acted as vice-mayor. Secretary Paul Tokunaga was building commissioner and George Akina was a councilman.

The Twirp dance held last Friday had a good turnout. Everyone had a good time and the band was great.

Senior Day at the University of California at Berkeley is coming up this Saturday, Nov. 16. On this day, Seniors from all over the state, their parents and teachers are invited to spend the day on the campus. They will attend lectures, tours, orientations, financial aids and educational opportunities offered to students at Berkeley. During the morning, two programs will be given—one for the seniors and one for the parents. During the afternoon, everyone is invited to attend the California vs Oregon football game at Memorial Stadium. The day should prove to be very worthwhile and educational.

School pictures are being distributed this week during the lunch hours and study centers. Anyone who put a deposit down on a packet may take the balance due and exchange it for their pictures.

The results of the school election held on election day are as follows: President, Humphrey; 10th District Congressman, Charles Gubser; U. S. Senate, Alan Cranston; 24th Assemblyman, John Vasconcellos.

The continuing nursing education program of the Santa Clara County Heart Association, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Polly Brodies, Nursing Education Committee, will climax their current medical series on coronary care with a Saturday workshop on Cardiac surgery, Nov. 16.

The workshop will be presented by a team from Santa Clara Valley Medical Center, where a program of cardiac surgery has been successfully conducted since 1965.

Dr. Albert Iben, chief of Cardiac Surgery and Assistant Professor at Stanford Medical Center will present the program.

The workshop is open to all nurses and allied medical personnel. Pre-registration and fee will be accepted until Nov. 14, by calling Mrs. Audray McClaflin, workshop chairman, 258-3118.

The Nursing Auditorium at O'Connor Hospital will host the event from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 16.

Camden Chatter

By Diane Carman

Seniors are busy each month choosing appropriate class members to be seniors of the month. Students are nominated in their American and Comparative Government class, a list is compiled and submitted to class president, Lee Daugherty, who in turn presents them to a special class meeting where interested seniors vote for two candidates.

This is contrary to last year's system where the student council does all the choosing for the whole year at the beginning of the year.

September's outstanding seniors were Anne Grewhol and Dennis Garvey. They are both members of student council. Head varsity cheerleader Nancy Jo Rodrigues and Fred Isaia, co-captain of the football team, were chosen to be October's seniors. November claims songgirl Barbra Roberts and student body president Dave Long.

Camden students voted on November 4 for president of the United States in a mock election. Contrary to the national election, Hubert Humphrey won with 45% of the vote, Richard Nixon came in second with 39%, and the Wallace-LeMay team received about 8% of the total vote.

Write-in candidate Eugene McCarthy was fourth with 40 votes, which was 7%. Dick Gregory, another write-in candidate, received only one vote.

For senator of California, Alan Cranston beat Max Rafferty with a vast majority.

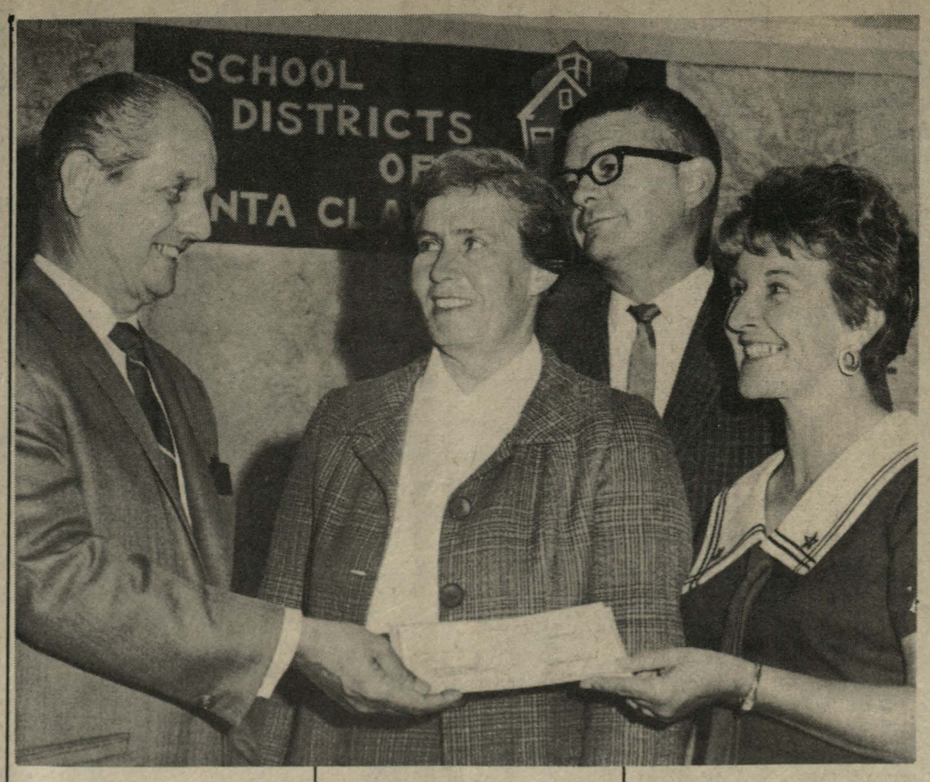
Despite many attempts, Camden failed to score more than one touchdown in their game with Saratoga, Nov. 8.

Saratoga came on strong, scoring the Falcon's first touchdown during the first 20 minutes of the game. The Cougars got tough and scored their 6 points in the third quarter, making the final score 6-38.



MONEY FOR LIVE CONCERTS--Money recently donated from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation to the Young Audiences of Santa Clara County will make it possible for children in over 40 county schools to hear what may be their first real live professional concerts.

During the last year over 80 schools were able to hear top calibre live concerts in schools through the "Young Audiences" program. In the above photo George Goughler, of Sears Roebuck presents the check to Mrs. L.D. Hertert, Chairman of the Young Audiences of Santa Clara County; Jack Russell, representing the Santa Clara County Office of Education and Mrs. Myron Mueller, president of the 6th District PTA, California Congress.

New Books at the CAMPBELL LIBRARY

NON-FICTION: Ready, William S. TOLKIEN RELATION
A readable, understandable introduction to the man and his works has been written by a distinguished scholar. This book is essential reading for both those who have hesitated to read Tolkien's books and those whose reading of them has aroused their curiosity about the man behind them.

NON-FICTION: Bennis, Warren THE TEMPORARY SOCIETY
This book is about a fundamental change taking place in the nature of American life today. American society is currently beset by the phenomenon of rapid change. Our country tomorrow will be characterized by temporary relationships at work, in the community, in the home. The weakness of deep-rooted values and the loss of fixed bases for human relationships will probably give rise to new scientific "systems" for regulating on society.

HERE SHE IS--Miss Sue Francis, 19, wears her crown as Homecoming Queen of West Valley College for 1968-69. Crowning ceremonies were delayed by rain. Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Francis, 1666 Adrien Dr., and aspires to become an actress. A 1966 Westmont High School graduate, she is presently majoring in liberal arts. She was sponsored in the Queen contest by the college Pep Club.

CAMPBELL LIBRARY

NON-FICTION: Grier, William H. BLACK RAGE
The authors of Black Rage are black psychiatrists who from their professional work with black patients, and from their own lives as Black men in America, bring a unique understanding of the anger raging in the black man's breast and the long history of racism that put it there.

NON-FICTION: Ballantine, Bill NOBODY LOVES A COCK ROACH
An entertaining but informative book about the exasperating ways and habits of the little monsters that infest our kitchens, gardens, fields and parks, by chewing on our homes, clothes and furnishings and by dirtying our cities; by attacking our livestock and pets; and by causing diseases and plagues. A very entertaining book.

FICTION: Durrell, Gerald, ROSY IS MY RELATIVE
A rollicking tale about a young man and the elephant bequeathed to him by an uncle. Rosy's great appetite for strong drink leads both of them into some difficulties, but in the end, both are exonerated, and Adrian, the young man, gets the girl (not the elephant). A well-written book for all readers.

FICTION: MacInnes, Helen, THE SALZBURY CONNECTION
In a deep, forbidding lake surrounded by the Austrian Alps, the Nazis hid a sealed metal box. Today only a handful of people have any idea of where it might be and what it might contain. Every major world power intrigues to obtain this mysterious chest. Lots of action with a modest love-interest.

FICTION: Jones, D. F. IMPLOSION
Mr. Jones has written a fascinating novel of tomorrow based on an interesting idea. Great Britain is attacked through their water supply with a drug called PROLIX. This drug causes the most of the women of the country to become sterile except those which have a natural immunity to the drug. What would be your solution to the problem? The author makes an interesting book.

Obituaries

A. E. BELLOLI

Requiem mass was offered Friday at St. Lucy's Church for August E. Belloli, 82, who passed away Nov. 6 following a long illness.

A native of San Jose, Belloli had lived in the Santa Clara Valley all his life.

He was the last of 10 children of Joseph A. Belloli, pioneer grocer in San Jose. He resided with a niece, Mrs. Jean Prolo, of 984 Robin Lane prior to entering a rest home.

He is also survived by another niece, Miss Rosalie Belloli of San Jose and three nephews, Joseph Belloli of Stanford; Paul Donovan of Napa and Clement Donovan also of Napa.

The Rosary was recited Thursday night at the Campbell Memorial Chapel with final interment in the Oak Hill Memorial Park.

JOSEPH B. STROBELL

Funeral services were held Friday for Joseph Bradford Strobell, 63, 49 S. Latimer Ave. who passed away Nov. 6. A retired heavy equipment operator, Strobell had only been hospitalized for two days prior to his passing.

A native of Jefferson, South Dakota, Strobell had led an interesting life working with heavy equipment in India, Okinawa, the Philippines and the Boulder Dam project.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Susan Allen of Los Gatos and Mrs. Sandra D. Hughes of Oklahoma; two sons, James Strobell and Daniel Strobell, both of Los Gatos, and one grandchild.

Services were conducted at the Chapel of the Hills, Los Gatos with Masonic rites being accorded by the Los Gatos Lodge, 292, F. & AM. He was also a member of San Jose Local 3, Operating Engineers Union.

Small business course opens at Camden High this week

Three out of four businesses started this year will fail.

Why?

If lack of preparation is in any way connected with failure, and it is generally thought to be so, then a series of classes currently being conducted by the Metropolitan Adult Education Program (MAEP) comprised of four school districts (Campbell, Santa Clara, San Jose Unified and Eastside) is making giant steps to cut down the failure rate.

For the past two years the combined efforts of the MAEP program with support from the Small Business Administration and the National Council for Small Business Management Development has been teaching the "basics" of small business operation.

The nine point program, which is conducted on a continuing basis, includes a study of the workings of the American economy. Other subject areas are purchasing, pricing, records and controls, locating and financing, insurance, organization, legal problems, selling, and taxes and government regulations.

Class location is at Camden High School, Camden at Union Avenues, San Jose, each Thursday evening from 7 to 10 p.m. No pre-requisites are made and a Certificate in Business is available for participants.

Information on the classes may be obtained by calling the Adult Center Office, 379-8550.

FUN TIME--The war orphans from the Vietnamese Qui Nhon's "Save the Children Fund" and Campbell residents have something in common in spite of the vast distances between. Sgt. Rudy Rocha, 555 Chapman Dr., Campbell, is one of the soldiers working at Red Beach who help provide a bus twice a week, to carry the children to the recreation area, where they have a chance to go swimming and have "treats". Pictured above is a group of children enjoying themselves in the water.

Interested young ladies who fall in the classification are invited to take a guided tour of Hamilton Air Force base at Novato, Calif. on Nov 16, according to Sgt. Kenneth O. Stears, local Air Force Recruiter stationed at 2275 Winchester Blvd.

Transportation will be furnished and luncheon served. The busses will depart from the recruiting office in Campbell at 8 a.m. with a scheduled return of 5 p.m.

Young women desiring to tour the facilities of the flight line, operations center, communications center and other related activities may contact Sgt. Stears at 379-6753. Only a limited number of reservations are available and are on a first come, first served basis.

LAKE SURFACE

Before man contained California's Tulare Lake with a levee system, it was the largest lake in the West, having 300 square miles more surface area at times than Utah's Great Salt Lake.

Buttons play important role in training program

Button-Button--who's got the button? The Goodwill Store at San Tomas and Campbell Ave. has buttons--big ones, little ones, new ones, old ones and all colors. They are being used in various ways.

As part of the continuing program of the Goodwill, Inc. which is always on the search for new training methods for the handicapped; the button collection has already proved itself valuable in determining manual dexterity and mental judging on the part of the trainee.

According to Charles Hoff, head of the research and development project for Goodwill, the buttons were formerly only used to replace lost buttons on garments given to the Goodwill. After a thorough investigation as to the need for buttons, the value of some of the antique buttons and various methods of "carding" buttons, the idea of placing buttons on sale in one of the stores was developed, as well as the using buttons as ornaments.

The buttons are first sorted by colors and types, which in itself is part of the evaluation program, helping to determine the trainees mental capacity and physical co-ordination. The carding of the buttons calls for further dexterity, and Hoff is exploring the carding process hoping to find that blind people will be able to do this step, thus adding to their skills.

The usage of buttons in making small stuffed animals, Christmas tree decorations, earrings, jewelry, and package wrapping is all part of the program. The material used in the stuffed animal program is donated, as is all of the materials used, and it too comes in all types and colors. The workers are given the pattern and develop their own ideas using the materials available, so that each toy is individually designed. The finished results are also valuable in determining the workers capabilities and judgment.

According to Hoff, the Campbell store was chosen as the outlet because the social economic level of the residents in the area is conducive to merchandising of buttons, inasmuch as the middle income residents are more interested in sewing than in other economic stratum.

So for all your button needs, or, if you are a button collector, first try the Goodwill store. Man, they have them!

WHAT A WONDERFUL COLLECTION--Mrs. Charles M. White, 1046 E. Fewtrell Dr., (right) examines the button collection now being offered for sale at the Campbell Goodwill Store. The button retail outlet is part of the training program carried out by Goodwill Industries which takes donated discarded material and uses it to train physically, mentally and emotionally handicapped people in order that they may support themselves, and at the same time make a worthwhile contribution to society.

With Mrs. White is Mrs. Thane Cavell, Campbell store manager.

BUTTONS HAVE MANY USAGES--Mike Tolentino, one of the regular clerks employed at the Campbell Goodwill Store, displays one of the stuffed cats made by the Goodwill trainees to a potential customer. Buttons are used for the cat's eyes. Other button usages are displayed as Christmas tree ornaments, jewelry and package wrappings.
